TEACHING EXPERIENCE

Professor of Psychology

August 2012-present

Winona State University, Winona, MN

- ◆ Teach undergraduate courses in introductory, social, and health psychology, psychological statistics, advanced research methods and advanced psychological statistics.
- ◆ Advise undergraduate students
- ◆ Mentor independent student research projects
- ◆ Manage a research lab with undergraduate student research assistants
- ◆ Serve on departmental and university committees

Lecturer – Social Psychology

University of Wisconsin – Milwaukee, Milwaukee, WI

Fall 2010-2012

- ◆ Prepare and lead discussion of topics in social psychology
- ◆ Develop learning assessments and assignments
- ◆ Manage and organize discussion sections and teaching assistants

Associate Adjunct – Advanced Statistics and Research Methods

Cardinal Stritch University, Milwaukee, WI

Summer 2011

- ◆ Developed lesson plans and learning evaluations related to statistical theory and advanced statistics (e.g., Mixed Designs, Multiple Regression, Logistic Regression, Factor Analysis)
- ◆ Mentored students in the development of their research design and statistical analyses for their master's thesis project
- ◆ Instructed students in writing in APA style and performing analyses using SPSS

Associate Adjunct – Introduction to Psychology

Bryant and Stratton College, Milwaukee, WI

Fall 2010

- ◆ Created lesson plans to facilitate student learning about psychological theory and research
- ◆ Facilitated student learning through in-class demonstrations and reflective writing exercises
- ◆ Utilized small, ethnically diverse class environment to create meaningful discussions of course materials from different perspectives

Guest Lecturer – Health Psychology

University of Wisconsin – Milwaukee, Milwaukee, WI

Spring 2010, 2011

- ◆ Prepared and led class lecture and discussion for undergraduate students
- ◆ Discussed psychosocial topics related to health psychology, specifically diabetes
- ◆ Engaged students in motivational exercises to introduce and teach how motivation impact health behaviors

Teaching Assistant Experiences:

Teaching Assistant – Research Methods

University of Wisconsin – Milwaukee, Milwaukee, WI

Fall 2010, Spring 2011

- ◆ Prepared and led discussion sections for graduate and undergraduate students
- ◆ Instructed students in basic and advanced research design and analysis
- ◆ Instructed students in writing research reports in APA style

Teaching Assistant – Advanced Psychological Statistics

University of Wisconsin – Milwaukee, Milwaukee, WI

Fall 2008, 2009

- ◆ Prepared and led discussion sections for graduate and undergraduate students
- ◆ Instructed students in basic and advanced statistics, sampling theory, and psychological testing procedures
- ◆ Instructed students in statistical packaging software (SPSS)
- ◆ Taught statistics through the lens of psychology research methods

Teaching Assistant – Experimental Design

University of Wisconsin – Milwaukee, Milwaukee, WI

Spring 2009, 2010

- ◆ Prepared and led discussion sections for graduate and undergraduate students
- ◆ Instruct students in advanced statistics, multiple linear regression, logistic regression, and factor analysis
- ◆ Instructed students in statistical packaging software (SPSS)
- ◆ Taught statistics through the lens of psychology research methods

Student Assistant

Fall 2006

Northwestern College, Orange City, IA

Supervisor: Jennifer Feenstra, Ph.D.

Development of a Teaching Manual for R. F. Baumeister & B. J. Bushman (2008). Social Psychology and Human Nature, Thomson Wadsworth Publishing

- ◆ Outlined chapter readings
- ◆ Defined vocabulary and authored examples of social psychological phenomena
- ◆ Contributed to the creation of teaching resources and learning activities

RESEARCH INTERESTS

I have broad interests in the social psychological factors that influence health and health behaviors, particularly for people living with or at risk for chronic disease. Specifically, I am interested in how factors such as social identity, the self, social support, and self-efficacy affect goals and motivation to perform health behaviors. I am currently exploring the role of the self-as-doer identity in health behaviors such as eating and physical activity.

CURRENT RESEARCH

I am exploring how an identity as the “doer” of one’s behavior (i.e., “self-as-doer”) provides motivation to enact health behaviors. I began this line of research by piloting the self-as-doer (Houser-Marko & Sheldon, 2006) in a population of persons with diabetes. I have demonstrated that the self-as-doer is a significant predictor of diabetes self-care behavior frequency and that it operates as a significant intervening variable in the relationship between self-efficacy and diabetes self-care behaviors for persons with Type I or Type II diabetes. Furthermore, I have developed and validated a diabetes-specific self-as-doer measure which I expect to use in future research with diabetic samples and demonstrated how the self-as-doer can be used as an intervention among non-clinical samples of young women who are interested in improving healthy eating behaviors. Currently I am exploring the role of the self-as-doer identity in physical activity behaviors and how goal orientation (approach vs avoidant) influence healthy eating behaviors.

RESEARCH EXPERIENCE

The Self-as-Doer Goal Behaviors Study, Winona State University

Principle Investigator, July 2022 – Present

- ◆ Prepare IRB submissions, general study protocol, data collection and management procedures, interviewing, and coding.
- ◆ Lead weekly lab meetings
- ◆ Manage data collection and analysis
- ◆ Contribute to manuscript development

The Community Mental Health Study, Winona State University

Co-Investigator, September 2021 – Present

- ◆ Prepare IRB submissions, general study protocol, data collection and management procedures, interviewing, and coding.
- ◆ Conduct interviews with community members
- ◆ Manage data collection and transcription
- ◆ Qualitatively code data
- ◆ Contribute to manuscript development

The Self-as-Doer and COVID19 Safe Behaviors Study, Winona State University

Principle Investigator, August 2020 – Present

- ◆ Prepare IRB submissions, general study protocol, data collection and management procedures, interviewing, and coding.
- ◆ Conduct focus groups
- ◆ Manage data collection and transcription
- ◆ Qualitatively code data
- ◆ Contribute to manuscript development

The WSU Student Experiences of COVID19 Study, Winona State University

Co-Investigator, June 2020 – Present

- ◆ Supervise undergraduate students in IRB submissions, general study protocol, data collection and management procedures, interviewing, and coding.
- ◆ Lead weekly lab meetings
- ◆ Manage data
- ◆ Contribute to manuscript development

The Self-as-Doer Physical Activity Study, Winona State University

Principle Investigator, January 2016 – August 2019

- ◆ Supervise undergraduate students in IRB submissions, general study protocol, data collection and management procedures, interviewing, and coding.
- ◆ Lead weekly lab meetings
- ◆ Manage data collection and management
- ◆ Conduct statistical analyses
- ◆ Lead conference submissions and manuscript development

Sexual Victimization and Self-Defense Study, Winona State University, Kent State University and North Dakota State University

Qualitative Data Supervisor, January 2016 – July 2020

- ◆ Collaborate with a team of researchers to manage and analyze qualitative data
- ◆ Supervise student research assistants in qualitative data analysis

- ◆ Develop themes from analyzed data
- ◆ Contribute to manuscript development and conference presentations

Investigation into Academic Performance of Student Athletes, Winona State University

Co-Investigator, September 2013 – Present

- ◆ Conduct focus groups
- ◆ Manage data collection and management
- ◆ Supervise student research assistants in qualitative data analysis
- ◆ Lead manuscript and grant application development

La Crosse County Public Health Project, La Crosse, WI

Research Consultant, August 2014 – January 2021

- ◆ Collaborate with team members to evaluate health disparities in La Crosse County WI
- ◆ Manage quantitative databases and perform statistical analyses
- ◆ Contribute to the production of conference presentations
- ◆ Lead manuscript development and dissemination

The Exercise and Identity Study, Winona State University

Principle Investigator, July 2014 – 2019

- ◆ Supervise undergraduate students in IRB submissions, general study protocol, data collection and management procedures, interviewing, and coding.
- ◆ Lead weekly lab meetings
- ◆ Manage data collection and management
- ◆ Conduct statistical analyses
- ◆ Lead conference submissions and manuscript development

Pediatric Cancer Experiences Study, Winona State University and St. Louis Children's Hospital

Qualitative Data Analysis Consultant, September 2012- 2017

- ◆ Collaborated with a team of researchers to qualitatively analyze pediatric cancer experiences
- ◆ Provide instruction on Consensual Qualitative Research methods for coder
- ◆ Advise and contribute to data analysis and thematic development of study data
- ◆ Contribute to manuscript

Family & Children's Center Special Project, La Crosse, WI

Lead Research Consultant, September, 2014 – March 2016

- ◆ Collaborate with team members to evaluate and establish research protocol
- ◆ Manage quantitative databases and perform statistical analyses
- ◆ Conduct interviews and focus groups
- ◆ Transcribe and analyze qualitative data
- ◆ Contribute to the production of conference presentations
- ◆ Lead manuscript development and dissemination

Threat Detection and Decision Making Study, University of Wisconsin-Milwaukee, Milwaukee, WI

Qualitative Data Analysis Consultant, September 2011-September 2015

Supervisor: Shawn Cahill, Assistant Professor, Department of Psychology.

- ◆ Provide instruction on Consensual Qualitative Research methods for undergraduate and graduate students
- ◆ Advise and contribute to data analysis and thematic development of study data
- ◆ Contribute to manuscript

The Diet Study, Winona State University

Principle Investigator, January 2013 – April 2015

- ◆ Supervise undergraduate students in IRB submissions, general study protocol, data collection and management procedures, interviewing, and coding.
- ◆ Lead weekly lab meetings
- ◆ Manage data collection and management
- ◆ Conduct statistical analyses
- ◆ Lead manuscript and grant application development

HIV Communication Study, University of Wisconsin-Milwaukee, Milwaukee, WI

Quantitative Data Manager, May 2010-August 2015

Supervisor: Katie Mosack, Ph.D., Department of Psychology, Patient Advocacy and Research Lab

- ◆ Supervise junior graduate students and undergraduate students in IRB submissions, general study protocol, data collection and management procedures, interviewing, and coding.
- ◆ Contribute to IRB applications and devise study protocol
- ◆ Interview HIV-positive participants
- ◆ Manage data collection and management
- ◆ Conduct statistical analyses
- ◆ Collaborate with qualitative coding team to develop social support and social support elicitation behavior coding system and coding communication behaviors for social support and social support elicitation behaviors
- ◆ Contribute to manuscript and grant application development

Veterans Affairs Health Study, Clement Zablocki VA Medical Center, Milwaukee, WI

Research Assistant, April 2010-May 2012

Supervisor: Jeffrey Whittle, MD., MPH, Professor of Medicine, Patient Care & Outcomes Research Group

- ◆ Participate on a qualitative coding team to evaluate outcomes of a hypertension self-care behavior intervention for US military veterans
- ◆ Create coding structure for qualitative data analysis
- ◆ Develop grounded theory models to determine programmatic impact of the intervention
- ◆ Contribute to manuscript and grant application development

Russian Immigrant Women's Health Study, University of Wisconsin-Milwaukee, Milwaukee, WI

Project Coordinator, June 2008-August 2012

Supervisor: Katie Mosack, Ph.D., Department of Psychology, Patient Advocacy and Research Lab

- ◆ Lead project meetings
- ◆ Train undergraduate and graduate research assistants in quantitative survey administration and blood pressure monitoring
- ◆ Supervise undergraduate research assistants in the use of SPSS, including data entry and statistical analysis
- ◆ Manage quantitative databases and perform statistical analyses
- ◆ Contribute to the production of conference presentations
- ◆ Lead manuscript development and dissemination

Experiences of Adolescents with Type II Diabetes Study, University of Wisconsin-Milwaukee, Milwaukee, WI

Research Assistant, January 2010-May 2012

Supervisor: Anthony Hains, Ph.D., Professor, Department of Educational Psychology

- ◆ Code qualitative in-depth interview data with adolescents with Type II diabetes
- ◆ Collaborate with qualitative coding team to code domains using Consensual Qualitative Research methodology
- ◆ Coordinate and contribute to the manuscript development

Cognitive and Emotional Indicators of Type I Diabetes Study, University of Wisconsin-Milwaukee, Milwaukee, WI

Research Assistant, January 2010-May 2012

Supervisor: Anthony Hains, Ph.D., Professor, Department of Educational Psychology

- ◆ Collaborate with research team to develop research measures, study protocol, and IRB submissions
- ◆ Recruit participants from Children's Hospital
- ◆ Administer quantitative surveys
- ◆ Assist in preparation and writing of manuscripts

Type I Diabetes Lipohypertrophy Study, University of Wisconsin-Milwaukee, Milwaukee, WI

Research Assistant, January 2010-May 2012

Supervisor: Anthony Hains, Ph.D., Professor, Department of Educational Psychology

- ◆ Contribute to the development of study protocol and IRB submissions
- ◆ Recruit participants at a local diabetes clinic
- ◆ Conduct participant interviews
- ◆ Assist in preparation and writing of manuscripts

Vocation, Identity, Spirituality, and College Adjustment Study, Northwestern College, Orange City, IA

Research Assistant, January 2005-August 2007

Supervisor: Jennifer Feenstra, Ph.D., Associate Professor, Department of Psychology

- ◆ Contributed to research design, measurement, and IRB submission
- ◆ Conducted literature reviews
- ◆ Administered quantitative surveys
- ◆ Managed databases, conducted statistical analyses
- ◆ Contributed to manuscript development

Vocation Scale and Correlates Study, Northwestern College, Orange City, IA

Research Assistant, January 2004-August 2007

Supervisor: Jennifer Feenstra, Ph.D., Associate Professor, Department of Psychology

- ◆ Conducted literature reviews
- ◆ Collaborated with research team to develop a measure of vocation
- ◆ Managed data collection and performed statistical analyses for the validation of the measure
- ◆ Contributed to manuscript development

Chronic Illness, Spirituality and Social Support Study, Northwestern College, Orange City, IA

Co-Investigator, August 2007–December, 2007

Supervisor: Ruth Daumer, Ed.D., MSN, BSN, AAS, Associate Professor of Nursing

- ◆ Evaluated supportive behaviors in a chronic illness social support group
- ◆ Developed skills for performing qualitative methods
- ◆ Authored a qualitative research proposal on factors contributing to positive health behaviors for persons with chronic illness

Volunteering Study, Northwestern College, Orange City, IA

Research Assistant, January 2004–December 2006

Supervisor: Jennifer Feenstra, Ph.D., Associate Professor, Department of Psychology

- ◆ Contributed to study design and IRB submission
- ◆ Coordinated the administration of quantitative surveys and conducted interviews
- ◆ Managed databases, conducted statistical analyses
- ◆ Led manuscript development and dissemination
